POST DRAW AT POST TIME

Freestate Raceway proudly presents Post Draw at Post Time (PDAPT), described as "the most exciting, innovative idea in horse racing in years," for its 1989 season.

On tonight's designated PDAPT Races, a Freestate judge will oversee a random draw for post position after the betting is closed. That makes post position a new betting variable -- something nobody can be sure of.

You'll see better odds and better payoffs because of it. And you'll see the draw live. More action on the track and new in-house electronics to bring it all to you as it happens.

Since its introduction, PDAPT races have produced the following results:

- Horses have won from every post position at a relatively even rate. In fact, horses starting from the outside have a better winning percentage than inside starters.

- Median win and exacta prices are significantly higher.

- Races overall are 3/5ths of a second faster this year than last year.
